PHILIPPE STARCK
DESIGNER
YOO

Starck recalls spending his childhood underneath his father's drawing boards, hours spent sawing, cutting, gluing, sanding, dismantling bikes, motor cycles and other objects. Endless hours, a whole lifetime spent taking apart and putting back together whatever comes to hand, remaking the world around him. Several years and several prototypes later, the Italians have made him responsible for our furniture, President Mitterand asked him to change life at the Elysées Palace, the Café Costes has become Le Café, he has turned the Royalton and Paramount in New York into the new classics of the hotel world and scattered Japan with architectural tours de force that have made him the leading exponent of expressionist architecture. Crazy, warm, yet terribly lucid, he draws without respite, out of necessity, driven by a sense of urgency, for himself and for others. He touches us through his work, which is fine and intelligent indeed, but most of all touches us because he puts his heart into that work, creating objects that are good even before they are beautiful.

The ultimate address

Brickell Avenue's
last great waterfront address

The ultimate address

The interior design for the common areas of the project is inspired by Yoo by Philippe Starck.

From the moment you arrive, statues modeled after the Moai figures of Easter Island embrace your journey into Starck's world of style, sophistication, urban living and privacy.

More than 100 feet above Biscayne Bay, your two-acre, outdoor sanctuary offers several areas to relax and hide away.

A 300-foot-long pool lined with stately trees and cool grass provides a unique area to stroll and unwind. A secluded deck surrounding a cooling pool offers the perfect place to sunbathe.

A private café with an outdoor fireplace and quiet cabanas creates a retreat with views of the downtown Miami skyline.
